VOL. I.

HONOLULU, HAWAIIAN ISLANDS, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1886.

NO. 48.

FOREIGN NEWS.

EUROPE.

The Spanish Cabinet was in session five hours discussing the sentences of death imposed by the courts martial on the leaders of the recent revolt, and finally decided to advise the Queen to commute the sentences. A petition for the pardon of the rebels, signed by 650 merchants and tradesmen, is published. Several officers, sergeants and privates have been promoted in reward for the skill they displayed and the wounds they received in the work of suppressing the revolt.

The London Times commenting on the success of Lord Randolph Churchill in the new ministry, says he has so far disappointed the partisan opposition which has been eagerly watching to catch him in some indiscreet sally or untimely sarcasm. "It is satisfactory," adds the Times, "to find Lord Randolph Churchill's eminent capacity for political affairs now displayed without levity of purpose or recklessness of dictation."

Sir Michael Hicks-Beach, Chief Secretary for Ireland, has returned to London. It is stated that his experience in Ireland, has convinced him that exceptional measures will be necessary to maintain order in the country before 1887. It is further said that the Conservative members of Parliament will be notified that their presence at the November session of Parliament will be necessary in view of the recommendations to be made by the Government respecting Ireland.

A London cablegram says: Trustworthy advices from Berlin give a different version of the Emperor's illness to those published in some of the leading papers here. It appears that the venerable sovereign is in a more serious condition than the court organs care to acknowledge. It has become known in Berlin that he is constantly falling into a sleep-like trance, and each threatens to be his last. The fashionable ladies of Berlin are already speculating on the result and preparing for it. In court circles the opinion is general that the end is not far off, and many of the nobility are making arrangements in anticipation of the Emperor's funeral.

JUSTIN MCCARTHY.

A New York despatch of October 25th says: Justin McCarthy's address on the cause of Ireland in the Academy of Music last night was a notable event. Every door of the building was besieged by an eager crowd and the police had to be called to prevent an accident. Outside of the academy resembled a huge bee-hive. When McCarthy was introduced by Mayor Grace he was greeted with deafening cheers and shouts. In the course of his remarks he said: "The Irish people are marked out by the sea and ocean as distinctly national. We ask that they shall be allowed to govern themselves. Is this unreasonable? On that principle the American Republic has been conducted and has advanced to a magnificent and enduring success. Ireland has, for centuries, demanded the right of self-government. I ask the audience if we ever allowed that demand to lapse by statute of limitations? Have we ever acquiesced in the English demand to rule over us as willingly subjected people? Never have we allowed our demand to lie quiescent. During all the centuries when England has reigned over Ireland by might we have demanded local independence and fought for our faith on battle-field after battle-field. It is claimed that we have some time submitted to England. We never submitted. So long as there is in England, America, Australia or anywhere one single group, I would say one single Irishman, alive, the claim will never be admitted. Any English statesman who thinks he can reconcile Ireland to the existing state of affairs, will have to exterminate the whole Irish race before he can boast of having done so. We make the claim for local self-government. Ours is not a selfish demand. It should have the support of all the broad-winners, of all weak and oppressed over the civilized world. We want to be at peace with our English, Scotch and Welsh brethren in those two islands, one of which we want to occupy peacefully ourselves. We ask only for the birthright of civilized men. It has been asked, Are we able to manage our own affairs? I think an Irishman, when he has a chance at Government, gives a good account of himself. When there were but seven or eight followers of Parnell, we showed ourselves capable of holding at bay 650 English, Scotch and Irish members then banded against us. When we were increased to twenty we fought off the coercion measures. We have grown from seven or eight to eighty-six. I don't think eighty-six will show themselves less earnest than the handful of men out of whose beginning has come such results."

The German Reichstag will meet November 18th.
